

For fourth to sixth grade elementary school students

For all children to live with peace of mind

Mie Prefecture
Children's Ordinance

Digital version

Do you have these problems?

- People say bad things about you because you're different

No one should be bullied or treated unfairly because of the color of their skin, gender, ways of thinking, body, or money.

- There is nowhere you can relax
There are no parks where you can play freely

Children are protected from bad and dangerous things. They can grow up healthily.

- Adults don't listen to what you think because you're a child

Children can tell adults how they feel or what they want to do. They can take part in school activities and local activities. In our society, we think everyone's opinion is important.

- You have nowhere to go to talk about problems

The thoughts of children are precious. Adults first think what is best for children when they think about things.

Like adults, children have many rights.

There are also some rights that only children have.

The Mie Prefecture Children's Ordinance was created to make sure people treat the rights of children as precious, and to make sure children can be healthy.

The Mie Prefecture Children's Ordinance is a promise between Mie Prefecture and local people, to make sure all children in Mie Prefecture can live with peace of mind.

Mie Prefecture is doing these things for children

We stop things like abuse and bullying. We also listen to the problems of children and accept them.

We support children to make sure they can grow up healthily.

We make systems to protect the rights of children.

We treat the thoughts of children as precious.

We make sure that everyone can learn about the rights of children.

We give support to make sure families with children can live with peace of mind.

Rights are things that we need to live happily in our own way.

Everyone in the world has the same rights from the time they are born.
